A PAGAN CEREMONIAL

The Adoption of a Pale Face Lady by the Seneca Tribe.

Curious Indian Rites Near Irving, New York—Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse, Whose Father was Adopted by the Same Tribe, Becomes a Member.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

CATTARAUGUS RESERVATION, NEAR IRVING, N. Y., June 28.—A novel and picturesque pagan ceremonial took place on the Seneca Reservation here last week. It was the adoption of a pale faced woman from the city of New York into the Seneca tribe with all the accessories of ancient Indian rites. It was probably the last occasion when this curious revival of barbarous customs will be witnessed among these peaceful sons and daughters of the forest. The old "people" as they are termed here, are rapidly passing away, and with the progress of civilization, many of the old customs have been abandoned and are forgotten by the younger of the present generation. The lady who was the object of this remarkable attention was Mrs. Harriet Maxwell Converse of 136 W. Forty-seventh street, New York. She is a daughter of the late ex-Congressman Thomas Maxwell of Elmira, who was himself adopted by the Senecas in 1804, and was an intimate friend of Red Jacket, probably the most famous Indian of American history. The adoption of Mrs. Converse was effected by Sachem Thoh-wah, otherwise William Jones, who is the Indian descendant of Horatio Jones, celebrated in American history as one of the first white pioneers taken by the Indians during the revolutionary war, and who was an interpreter for the Government. She was tendered the name of Ga-Ya-Kee-Ha-Oh, which was the name of the step-daughter of Red Jacket. It signifies "The beauty of the law." When the Senecas adopted the Republican form of government many of the old customs pertaining to the once powerful league of the Iroquois were abandoned, and among them the adoption of naming ceremony by public rites. It was announced as the intention on this occasion to reproduce an almost forgotten ceremony, and the few very old Indians who are still living on the reservation were summoned, as was Mrs. Converse from New York to receive her name. Four sachems, eight chiefs and about 200 braves were invited to attend. The weather was lovely and the cool breeze which beat the pine tops of the thick grove just sufficiently tempered the heat of the sun's rays to make every one feel comfortable. At an early hour of the morning young and old Indians gathered at the home of Sachem Thoh-wah, but in modern built and comfortable farm houses—and began preparations for the feast by making bread and boiling corn and meat in the ancient style. Toward noon the Indians had gathered in considerable numbers. Most of them were attired in the picturesque costumes of the aborigines as they climbed down from farm-wagons or dismounted from horses and clustered about a clump of the tallest trees so as to form three sides of a square. This was the enclosure of the old custom. Mrs. Converse was led to a seat at the head of the council. Instead of war paint, she wore smiles and a look of considerable embarrassment, and instead of a wampum belt, beads and moccasins she was fashionably attired, and had natty French heels on modern kid boots. Some Indian sachems, however, had insisted upon adorning her head.

WITH INDIAN WILD FLOWERS.

Chief Moose called a long-toned, mounting a stump, shouted to those entitled to sit in the council to take places by the fire according to the various clans, of which there are eight, in the Seneca tribe, Wolf, Bear, Beaver, Turtle, Deer, Snake, Huron and Hawk. Three clans were represented. Snipes took their place at the left, Wolves at the right and Turkeys at the head. Members of a brass band, composed entirely of Indian musicians, took their seats at the head of the council, and after playing several airs from modern music, commenced the ceremony. The program of the day was announced by chief Moose in the Seneca language, which was interpreted by an old Chief, Nick Parker. Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Trip, missionary to the reservation, preceded a short address in the Indian tongue by Sachem Andrew Snow, a Seneca.

The warrior then led Mrs. Converse to the center of the council. In addressing the in terested red faces in her behalf, he called their attention to the subject of adoption which had been ordered by Sachem Jones and asked of all the friendship, respect, loyalty and affection of the clan (the Snipe) into which she was entering. Then invoking a blessing with uplifted hands over the smoking embers he named her Ga-Ya-Kee-Ha-Oh, by which she would hereafter be known to them all. A sachem of the Wolf, the council clan, took her by the hand and led her to a seat in the council with the Snipe clan, beside her brother, Sachem Jones. This doughty warrior received her with manifestations of affection, and introduced her to each individual member of her clan.

By this adoption this denizen of the forest of Manhattan Island becomes the great-granddaughter of Red Jacket. She is considered by her clan substantially and validly their sister by law, and accepting all the rights and honors pertaining to such a position. After more music by aboriginal band of modern airs, large bow knives were brought forth and cracking wood fires started under the outspreading branches of some neighboring apple trees. The setting scene soon smoking and odorless of boiled meat and soup. When ready the recipients were placed in the center of the council. The adopted sister was served first, and then all partook of the feast. Songs and joyous merry-making continued until late in the afternoon.

HIT AND MISS.

Vice President Hendricks Slighted by the Yale Corporation.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

New York, June 28.—The Times in its column of "Hit and Miss" chat, says to-day: Though the newspapers have not touched upon the subject, I have it on good authority that Vice President Hendricks has just suffered a pretty keen disappointment, not to say embarrassment, when he was invited to deliver the annual address before the Yale Law School.

It was not unusual that he should see something more in the invitation than the mere glory of an opportunity to discourse learnedly before a little band of students. Two years ago Secretary Bayard went up to Yale from Delaware, delivered this same address, and was honored with the title LL. D. Last year Governor Hoadly journeyed there from Ohio, took the law school platform, as Mr. Bayard had done, and in the same way accepted the LL. D. The rule stated Mr. Hendricks is the fact. He had no reason to doubt that the honor was awaiting him. Indeed it is said by one in a position to know, that it was pretty directly intimated to the Indiana statesman that he should accept it.

But Mr. Hendricks discovered soon after his arrival in the college town that his expectations had blossomed in vain. Yale's corporation, for, as every body knows, within the hour, had selected others for her honors. The rule which had given dignity to Bayard and Hoadly and others, was broken. It is not recorded that Mr. Hendricks used language that was animated over the matter, but a gentleman who knows the fact says that the Vice-President did not seem to consider it an affliction to say up till 10 o'clock in the morning in order to get an out-of-town train that would hurry him to Boston.

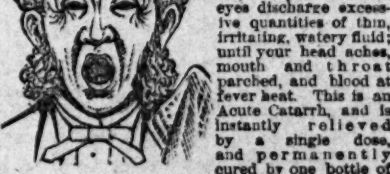

REMEMBERING BROTHER.

Little Jones Runs Away From Home With a Strange Young Man.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

New York, June 28.—Sixteen-year-old Elsie Jones, of 34 North Second street, Newark, quarreled with her mother on Friday afternoon and in her passion went out on the stoop. In front of the house a clump of weeds thrust and she was going there to meet a young man. The mother remonstrated with her, but the girl ran hastily down the steps and across the road. There she was met by a tall young fellow, whose arm she took and walked away rapidly. Mrs. Jones followed after her for a block, but the girl walked rapidly on, when two blocks away on Totten avenue, the girl hesitated, but her companion continued to urge her on, and when her mother was hurrying to catch up she and her companion disappeared. Nothing has been heard of them since. Mrs. Jones reported her daughter's disappearance to the police. The name of the quaver the mother declared to none. The girl is very pretty.

THE AMER.

Isa Khan Captures Khana-I-Bad and Seizes a Great Treasure.

The Rebel Chief Supported by Russian Allies—Remorse of an Anglo-German Alliance Against Russia—Trial of the Murderer of Herr Rumpf—Foreign News.

BOMBAY, June 28.—It is reported from Kabul that Isa Khan, supported by Russian allies, has risen against Abdullah Khan. Isa Khan marched upon Khana-I-Bad, and seized the treasure there, valued at a million pounds sterling, belonging to the Amir of Afghanistan. The point of difficulty in the case is the Amir's refusal to allow the Amir to be executed, and the Amir is now in the hands of the Russian army.

ISRAELI NEWS.—Abdullah Khan is the Governor of Kunduz, the northernmost province of Afghanistan. The town of Khana-I-Bad is situated about thirty miles south of the River Oxus, which river separates it from the Russian province of Bokhara. Khana-I-Bad was the headquarters of the present Amir of Afghanistan before he was summoned to the throne and there, also, occurred the negotiations between the Amir and the British officers.

THE AMERICAN TONIC.—Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch. London, June 28.—Naturally enough the first act and rumors of the intentions of the new Government deal with military matters. The guards have been sent from Alexandria to Mount Tebrouk and it is reported with some show of authority that Douglas will be accompanied and held. It is also reported that an interview between the Marquis of Salisbury and Prince Bismarck will occur later in the year. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard telegraphs that the Russian press demands an explanation of the present bearing of the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Randolph Churchill's words, spoken when they were in the Opposition regarding an Anglo-German alliance against Russia. The Berlin correspondent of the News affirms that the Russian Foreign Office is expecting a spontaneous explanation of the offensive language of the Ministers.

THE AMERICAN TONIC.—The London papers take no notice of the French accusations that Oliver Palm was assassinated at the instigation of English officers, but they will probably wait for Henri Rochefort's promised further disclosures about his mysterious friend who brings the news.

CIRCULATED FOR OPINION.—The Legislative Department at Calcutta has circulated, for expression of public opinion, the draft of a bill giving, for four hours, exclusive use of the newspapers of all telegrams and other news obtained at their own cost.

THE MAXWELL-FRELLER TRAGEDY.—By the late New Zealand mail important further evidence is sent from Auckland of Maxwell's guilt, consisting of several descriptions furnished by E. Freller, a brother of the victim, of the clothes, coins, trinkets, books and music belonging to the deceased, and of the clothing of Maxwell's wife, supplied to him by London tailors, all of which were found in Maxwell's possession.

PROPOSED ALLIANCE AGAINST RUSSIA.—London, June 28.—The Berlin Post, in an article supposed to have been inspired by Prince Bismarck, hints at a desire on the part of Germany for an alliance with England. The Novor Vremya, of St. Petersburg, says Russia ought not to forget that the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Randolph Churchill have always been anxious to form an Anglo-German alliance against Russia.

MINOR AFFAIRS.—The following is a corrected list of minor appointments: Viscount Barry, Under Secretary to the War Office; Henry S. Northcote, M. P., Financial Secretary of the War Office, and the Earl of Dunraven, Under Secretary for the Colonies.

SALUBRITY AND REMARK.—Paris, June 28.—The Minister of Agriculture reports that Lord Salisbury will have an interview with Prince Bismarck in August.

WM. HENRY SMITH RE-ELECTED.—Hon. Wm. Henry Smith, Secretary for War in the Cabinet of the Marquis of Salisbury, has been re-elected to Parliament for Westminister. The Libera list did not contest the seat.

UNDER SECRETARY OF STATE.—Mr. Charles Belgrave Stuart-Wortley, who has sat in Parliament for Sheffield since 1880, has been appointed Under Secretary of State for the Home Department.

1885 P. M.—CONSOLS 90 1/2 for both money and the accounts.

England.—PRINCE ALBERT VICTOR.—London, June 28.—Prince Albert Victor, son of the Prince of Wales, was today tendered the freedom of the city of London. The Prince and Princess of Wales, United States Minister Philip C. Terry, United States Ambassador in London, and most of the Ambassadors in London were present.

THE AMERICAN OFFICE EXPLOSION.—The police have ascertained that an American revolver and ammunition and Remington rifle cartridges were employed to effect the explosion at the Admiralty Office, which took place three years ago. Mr. Swaine, the chief clerk in the Secretary's Department, who was seriously hurt by the explosion, has almost recovered.

Egypt.—THE CAMEL CORPS.—Cairo, June 28.—The orders to the Camel Corps to embark have been rescinded. It is reported that the Government meditates recovering Dongola.

Spain.—THE CHOLERA.—Madrid, June 28.—The official reports of Sunday are as follows: Castellon de la Plana (city), new cases 4; Valencia (city), new cases 143; deaths 74; Valencia (provin), new cases 143; deaths 80; province, new cases 50, deaths 30; Alicante (city), new cases 1, deaths 3; province, new cases 18, deaths 6; Barcelona (provin), new cases 80, deaths 8; Toledo (city), new cases 10, deaths 10; province, new cases 0, deaths 0; Aranjuez, new cases 13; deaths 1; Madrid, new cases 3, deaths 1. General Galvis, director of the Toledo Military Academy, has died of cholera.

Germany.—TRIAL OF THE MURDERERS.—Frankfurt-on-the-Main, June 28.—The trial of Leske, the shoemaker, who is charged with the murder of Herr Rumpf, the Police Counselor, on the night of Tuesday, the 13th of January last, was begun today. Leske, who was arrested when he attempted to commit suicide. The murder of Herr Rumpf was a peculiarly atrocious character. Rumpf was returning home, and had arrived at his residence when he was met by his assassin and stabbed to death. The dagger entered the heart twice. Herr Rumpf was conspicuous in the procession at Leipzig, a short time previously, of the anarchists Helmsdorf, Rugeles, Knebel, Holschauer, Reagen, Soehngen, Reinsch and Sommer, who were engaged in the Niederrhein attempt to kill Emperor William of Germany. It was believed at the time that anarchists were the promoters, if not the principals, in this crime, and

MINISTERS' MEETING.

The Evangelical Alliance held its last meeting until September this morning at the Y. M. C. A. A fairly good representation of the city pastors were on hand to close the season in good style.

Under the Influence of Liquor.

The young man in charge of the room at the house where Dietrich was drunk, and it was seen when he came in, he would not have allowed him to go to work. He reached the kitchen, however, without attracting anybody's attention, and was soon at work. A gentleman, James Balenger, colored, and about 30, took the order and went to the kitchen. Dietrich took the order and went to the kitchen. Dietrich took the order and went to the kitchen.
